

name: _____

class: _____

date: _____

Alfred Jewel - A Masterpiece of Anglo-Saxon Art

The _____ is a remarkable piece of Anglo-Saxon art. This _____ was made in the late 9th century, during the reign of _____ the Great. It is made of _____ and gold, and features a unique _____ on its side. The jewel was likely used as an _____, a pointer for reading books. This suggests that literacy and _____ were valued in Alfred's kingdom. The _____ of the jewel shows a figure, which is often interpreted as a symbol of _____. It was found in _____, England, in 1693, and is now displayed in the Ashmolean _____ in Oxford. The Alfred Jewel is an important example of _____ and cultural significance during the _____ period. Its discovery offers insights into the _____ skills and the societal values of the time. It is also a testament to King Alfred's commitment to _____ and culture.

enamel

artistic

King Alfred

artifact

learning

wisdom

Anglo-Saxon

education

design

Alfred Jewel

Somerset

inscription

aestel

craftsmanship

Museum