

name: _____

class: _____

date: _____

Stirling Castle

Stirling Castle, located in _____, is a symbol of Scottish medieval history. Built atop a volcanic rock, it offers a strategic view of the surrounding _____. In the Middle Ages, this castle was vital for controlling the country because of its location. Many Scottish _____ and queens were crowned at Stirling, including Mary, Queen of Scots. The castle's architecture is a mix of _____ and Renaissance styles, showing the changes over centuries. Inside, the Great Hall, which was the largest in _____ at the time, hosted grand banquets and important _____. The Stirling Tapestry Studio worked for years to recreate the _____ that once adorned the castle walls, reflecting the artistry of the period. Stirling Castle also had a strong _____ presence, with many battles fought in its vicinity. The most famous of these is the Battle of Stirling Bridge, led by William _____. The castle's history is not just about battles; it also played a role in cultural and _____ life. The Renaissance King, James V, built the splendid Royal Palace and promoted _____ and education. Visitors to the castle today can explore the Royal Palace, the Chapel Royal, and the beautifully restored _____. These attractions provide a window into the life and times of medieval _____. Stirling Castle is not only a historic site but also a place where one can learn about and experience the rich _____ of medieval Scotland.

Scotland	arts	Gothic	land	culture	gardens	military	events
Wallace	Scotland	kings	intellectual	Scotland	tapestries		