

name: _____

class: _____

date: _____

Tristan and Isolde

In the age of _____ and castles, there was a famous tale in Arthurian Legend about two lovers, Tristan and _____. Tristan, a knight of Cornwall, was sent to Ireland to bring Isolde back to marry his uncle, King _____. However, on their journey back, Tristan and Isolde accidentally drank a _____ potion. This potion made them fall deeply in _____ with each other.

Their love was forbidden, as Isolde was to marry King _____. Yet, they could not resist each other. They met secretly in the _____, sharing moments of passion and sorrow. Their _____ was eventually discovered, causing great _____. King Mark was heartbroken but also showed _____ towards the lovers.

Tristan was forced to leave Cornwall and went to _____, where he married another woman, also named Isolde, known as Isolde of the _____ Hands. However, his heart still belonged to Isolde of Cornwall.

Years later, Tristan was mortally _____ and sent for Isolde of Cornwall, known for her healing skills. He asked for a signal: a ship with white _____ if she was coming to save him, and black sails if she was not. Isolde of the White Hands, jealous of his love for the other Isolde, lied about the color of the sails. Tristan died of a broken _____, and when Isolde of Cornwall arrived, she found him dead and died of grief beside him. Their _____ is a tragic example of true love and the complexities of the _____ heart.

Mark knights Brittany wounded affair heart Mark White story love scandal sails forest Isolde mercy love human